

THE TERRITORY, CITY AND
THE SANTA FE RAILWAY.WHAT THIS GREAT RAILWAY IS DOING.

ITS TERRITORIAL REPRESENTATIVES.

Something of the Active Work of Hon. Henry E. Asp, Attorney for the Road in Oklahoma and Indian Territories, and Mr. L. R. Delaney, Local Manager of the Road-The Santa Fe's Immense Traffic Business The Past Year.

The settlement of Oklahoma and its phenomenal growth during the past five years has been told in prose and verse many times and oft, yet the themes are new not only to the ever increasing throng of newcomers but to old settlers alike.

But a great factor in the growth of this fair territory, is very often overlooked by sanguine residents, in describing Oklahoma's resources, and consequently credit falls to fall where it is justly due. This factor is the this grand territory, and the center of wealth, culture and refinement. Her matchless beauty has delighted and charmed thousands. Like a proud queen she sits overlooking the beautiful valleys of the Cottonwood and Cimarron rivers, surrounded by a region unequalled for its beauty of topography and the richness of its productions; the city is cut in twain by the river first named, which flows from south to north in a serpentine course and empties into the salty Cimarron one mile above the city. From the banks of the classic Cottonwood the land rises upon each side to an elevation of a thousand feet above sea level, and the view of the surrounding country is as grand as ever spread out before the orb of man. The city is situated near the center of the territory, latitude 35 degrees, 52 minutes and 45 seconds north, longitude 99 degrees and 25 minutes west.

The climate is a happy medium between the extreme heat and cold. The annual average being 58 degrees, the highest temperature on record is 99 degrees and the lowest 11 degrees below zero. The annual average precipitation of rain is 39.86 inches.

As incorporated, the area of Guthrie is two square miles, the city being two miles long east and west, and one mile wide north and south. A number of additions have been laid out and the total area of the city is probably three square miles. It is organ-

A FEARFUL COUGH
Speedily Cured by
AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"My wife was suffering from a fearful cough, which the best medical skill procurable was unable to relieve. We did not expect that she could survive, but Mr. R. V. Royal, my surgeon, had a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with him, induced my wife to try this remedy. The result was so beneficial, that she kept on taking it, till she was cured. She is now enjoying excellent health, and weighs 100 pounds."—R. S. HENRY, RIVER, SAUSSE, GA.

fever at Vicksburg after the siege. Until sixteen years of age the lad lived with his guardian on a farm and learned the mail-maker trade, but this proving uncongenial to his tastes, he came west and began the study of law with Leland & Webb at Winfield, Kansas, in 1875, and afterwards with Judge Torrance of the district bench. It was he was admitted to the bar and opened an office in Winfield, where he resided until his removal to Guthrie in July, 1890.

Mr. Asp's first railroad experience was in '83 when he was instrumental in working up the Kansas City & Southwestern railroad and floating the bonds of that corporation. He was attorney for that road until it was sold to the "Frisco" in '88, when he went to Michigan and was employed one year as the attorney for a corporation that was building a road in that state. The next year Mr. Asp returned to Winfield, engaged with the Santa Fe, and has been with that company from that time. At Winfield he had charge of the law business of the company in three counties and upon his removal to Guthrie he was given charge of the whole of Oklahoma and the Indian Territory. He is associated with the firm of Asp, Shartel & Cottingham and in addition to the office of the railroad company they transact a general law business. Mr. Asp is a rock-ribbed Oklahoman and aids in every way towards the upbuilding of the territory.

Santa Fe Workers.

The local station of the Santa Fe is a veritable bee hive. In the passenger and freight houses a prodigious amount of business is transacted every day and the force of efficient clerks is kept on the jump. The clerical force at present consists of the following gentlemen:

L. R. Delaney, agent; A. J. Corkins, chief freight clerk; Frank O'Neil, baggageman; James A. Elly, master of baggage; A. P. Vandenberg, foreman warehouse; Bert Spencer, check clerk; Frank R. Kilmer, night clerk; Joseph Hapson, porter; Ira B. Kerr, day telegraph operator; W. H. Rabb, night operator; E. H. Stevens, cashier Wells Fargo Express company; C. Fridgen, night man; Aside from the local working force the traveling public is favored in the way of courteous and obliging conductors and trainmen on all trains passing this city.

KICKED OUT BY CHOCTAWS.

International complications arising from Atoka Mine Troubles.

International complications have arisen between the United States on the one hand and Great Britain, Italy, France and Belgium on the other in regard to the recommendation of Gov. Jones, of the Choctaw Nation, in the Indian Territory, for the removal of certain intruders among the miners who have been on a strike, and committing all kinds of lawless acts in their fight against the Atoka Coal and Mining company.

Among these miners are subjects of Great Britain, France, Italy and Belgium, and each of their representatives in the United States has called at times on Secretary Gresham and the officials of the interior department to protest against the action of the United States in removing them from the Indian country. Ambassador Patterson had an interview with the English bureau officials Thursday, and the result of the protest made personally by the representatives of other foreign countries has led to an extensive correspondence between the state department and the secretary of the interior.

The secretary answers all the questions propounded by the British ambassador by stating the general proposition that under the treaty the United States has the right to eject intruders, whatever the nationality. He denies the allegation that the strike was against a 25 per cent. reduction in wages. In support of the action of the department in removing the intruders he quotes section 2134, of the revised statutes, which provides that "every foreigner who shall go into the Indian country without a passport from the department of the interior, or its agents, and who shall intentionally remain there, is liable to a penalty of $1,000."

You Need a Vacation

Just a suggestion: Why not try the Rocky Mountains? No better medicine exists than the dry, clear, balmy air of that region. Anywhere around Pike's Peak, or further into the range will do. Did you whisper trout fishing? Yes, plenty of it, off the railroads, in secluded nooks.

Camping out in its living in cottages or boarding at the big hotels—the cost is little or much, as you please.

The Santa Fe route has on sale excursion tickets to all principal Colorado and Utah resorts. Inquire of nearest agent.

L. R. DELANEY, AGENT SANTA FE.

Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad. This giant system wielded powerful influence in promoting the growth and progress of Oklahoma, and its officials in the general offices as well as in the territory, are ever keenly alive to the interests of the five-year old prology.

The Santa Fe has always treated the people of Oklahoma justly and courteously and to it the people are greatly indebted. Through its agency the trade marts of the world have been opened to us, while manufacturing establishments of every description have been located along the route. It is needless to speak of the monster passenger and freight business of the Santa Fe, suffice it to say that it is increasing daily and will continue to grow so long as the country prospers and the road management offers such inviting inducements to patrons. The Santa Fe people are greatly interested in promoting manufacturing and industries in Oklahoma and during the past two years have been the cause of bringing many substantial plants to several towns through which the road passes. Flattering inducements are always offered in the way of low freight rates, to eastern manufacturers who desire to locate in the territory. A prominent official of the Santa Fe road, who was in the city a few days ago, had the following to say regarding territorial manufacturing interests: "Manufacturing is a branch of industry that has not received the proper attention. In the great rush there are many things that are demanding the thought and energy of the people, but the country has now reached that state of development where manufacturing enterprises will pay, and Guthrie and the whole territory has made substantial progress along this line during the last year. The people of this city realize that their future must be as a manufacturing and distributing point, and they are liberal in encouraging enterprises that are calculated to build up Guthrie. The status of the situation is enough to convince manufacturers who are looking for a location that this is a very desirable point where the business can be carried on successfully. A home market is furnished by all of the surrounding country, which at present is almost purely agricultural, and consumes large quantities of manufactured products. Water can be obtained in abundance and fuel at a minimum cost. What has been said about manufacturing applies to wholesale and jobbing business from a commercial standpoint. Already there are numerous and doing a prosperous business on the Santa Fe, and in the interior towns. Guthrie wholesale establishments guarantee to sell goods as cheap as foreign concerns, and their large business illustrates the degree of their prosperity."

Guthrie being the capital and chief city of the territory is naturally the territorial headquarters of the giant Santa Fe system, and here a mammoth amount of business is done. The work of the road at Oklahoma City and other towns along the road is also amazingly large, but the bulk of the business is concentrated at the capital city, and is attended to by Agent L. R. Delaney, and right here a few words regarding Guthrie will fit well. The capital city is the fountain head of all ized as a city of the first-class and has all the departments of city government common to the metropolitan cities of the east. The census has not been taken officially for two years but the population is now conservatively estimated at 12,000 people which is increasing rapidly at the rate of from 15 to 20 per cent per annum. When it is considered that Guthrie is but 5 years old, growth and development has exceeded that of any other city in the United States during the same length of time. There is nothing wonderful about this and the whole course can be attributed to natural conditions. Here is a modern city, the capital of a vast territory that is rapidly settling up with the cream of citizenship of the states so far as industry and progress are to be taken into consideration. A territory that is soon to become one of the great states of the Union, and Guthrie has more productive country tributary to it than any city in the west.
